Verbot® KI-KU-ZO® - 5401 by Tomy®

The verbot is a nine-inch tall toy robot that responds to voice commands. Its arms can move up and down on command and its eyes and mouth light up when you tell it to smile. The verbot's drive system consists of two driven wheels and a ball bearing for the third support. On its chest are eight buttons corresponding to each of the eight functions the verbot can perform.

The functions are; stop, smile, arms up, arms down, move forward, move backward, turn left and turn right. One of the most interesting features of the robot is that you are not restricted to any predefined command words. You can pick your own words to program the functions.
